Economic Security: Creating Opportunities to Invest, Save and Protect Family Wealth

Introduction

Silicon Valley Community Foundation was created 10 years ago to focus on the community's most challenging problems, convene regional private and public sector leaders and initiate policy discussion at the regional, state and national levels. Since 2008, SVCF has made a total of $90 million in grants to over 500 organizations as part of our strategic grantmaking and community impact work in four key strategy areas: economic security, education, immigration and building strong communities.

As we celebrate our 10-year anniversary, we are proud to announce a special $1 million dollar grantmaking initiative. Through this initiative, 10 grants of up to $100,000 each will be awarded to deserving organizations that are doing the most innovative and effective work to make our region a better place.

Two grants will be awarded to projects within each of our existing four strategy areas: economic security, education, immigration and building strong communities. Two additional grants will also be awarded to projects aimed at increasing civic engagement and participation through creative and innovative uses of technology.

This request for proposals, or RFP, focuses specifically on our economic security strategy. By using an RFP approach, SVCF aims to solicit the best thinking of nonprofit service providers, public sector agencies, research institutions and other entities serving San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

Grant Application Deadline

The application process will open beginning December 19, 2016.

Responses to this RFP must be submitted through our online application system, applySVCF, by 5 p.m. (PST) on January 20, 2017.

Problem Statement

Silicon Valley is a region of stark economic contrasts. While great wealth is created here, many struggle to make ends meet. Alarming, nearly one in five Silicon Valley residents is asset poor, meaning they lack sufficient savings or equity in their homes or businesses to meet basic needs for three months in the case of an unexpected financial hardship¹. Low-wage workers within communities of color, as well as first- and second-generation immigrants, are likely to be disproportionately represented in this category.

The Great Recession that took hold in 2008 exacerbated these problems and adversely affected many people in San Mateo and Santa Clara counties. Although the Silicon Valley economy has recovered overall, many residents still feel the effects of jobs or assets lost in the recession, and many are left out of the current technology boom. Skyrocketing housing costs are putting even more strain on individuals and families living at the margin.

Grant Opportunity

The goal of SVCF's work in the economic security strategy has been to help low- and moderate-income individuals and families invest, save and protect family wealth. We have focused our grantmaking investments on financial education and asset-building programs, as well as on public education and advocacy efforts to combat predatory payday lending locally and statewide. The intent of this special grantmaking initiative is to support new and innovative ideas aligned with our current approaches – financial education and asset-building and combatting predatory payday lending. The initiative will also support new ideas for different approaches to helping low- and moderate-income individuals and families create a better financial future.

applicants' creativity. We encourage applicants to imagine what might be possible, share one of their new and innovative ideas with us, and explain how SVCF funds could help them apply that idea. It is important to note that this is a special, one-time-only grant opportunity associated with our 10-year anniversary, and this particular opportunity will not be continued in future years.

For more information about this grant opportunity, we invite you to participate in our upcoming informational webinar (see "key dates").
